B) Report

i) Title of the Report: Recipe Exchange Book – Pair Activity

The Recipe Exchange Book – Pair Activity was organized by the Department of English, Langlit – Students' Association 2026–27, at Rajarshi Shahu Mahavidyalaya, Latur. The activity was conducted on 24 September 2026 at 2.30 PM in the Audio Visual Lab. It was designed as an innovative and interactive language-learning activity for students of English. The main purpose of the activity was to develop students' English communication, speaking, writing, and presentation skills. Students participated in pairs and selected recipes of their choice for preparation and presentation. They recorded the ingredients, preparation methods, cooking steps, and special features of their recipes in the Recipe Exchange Book. Each pair then explained their recipe in English before the audience, providing an opportunity to practise meaningful communication. The activity encouraged students to learn and use food-related vocabulary and expressions in a practical context. It also promoted teamwork, creativity, confidence, peer learning, and effective presentation skills among the participants.

ii) Objectives

1. To develop students' English communication and presentation skills.
2. To encourage students to communicate and collaborate in pairs.
3. To provide an interactive platform for learning English through a familiar topic—food and recipes.
4. To enhance students' vocabulary related to ingredients, cooking methods, and food preparation.
5. To develop speaking, writing, creativity, and teamwork skills.
6. To encourage students to explain information confidently before an audience.
7. To promote peer learning and active participation through an engaging language-learning activity.

iii) Details of Participants

The activity was mandatory for UG students of Major and Minor English and PG English students. Students participated in pairs and prepared a recipe of their choice. Each pair contributed the recipe to the Recipe Exchange Book and presented/explained it in English before the audience. Total 18 members, out of 13 Girls' 01 Boy and 4 faculty members were present for the activity

The activity provided students with an opportunity to work collaboratively, share their culinary knowledge, and practise English in a practical and enjoyable context.

iv) Brief Summary of Events/ Session

The Recipe Exchange Book – Pair Activity was conducted on 24 September 2026 at 2.30 PM in the Audio Visual Lab under the aegis of the Langlit – Students' Association 2026–27.

The activity started with students working in pairs to select and prepare a recipe. Each pair wrote the recipe clearly in the Recipe Exchange Book, including details such as the ingredients, preparation method, cooking steps, and special features of the dish. The students then presented their recipes in English before the other participants.

The activity encouraged students to use appropriate vocabulary and practise effective communication. The pair-work format promoted cooperation, coordination, and peer learning. Students demonstrated creativity in presenting their recipes and gained confidence in speaking English. The activity also created an informal and enjoyable environment for developing language skills through a real-life context.

The programme was organised by the Department of English, Langlit – Students' Association 2026–27, under the coordination of Dr Chandrashekhar Dawane, Coordinator, with the guidance of Dr Anuja Jadhav, HoD, and the support of Dr Mahadev Gavhane, Principal, RSML.

v) Conclusion

The Recipe Exchange Book – Pair Activity successfully combined language learning, creativity, collaboration, and practical communication. Students actively participated in preparing, writing, and presenting recipes in English. The activity helped them improve their vocabulary, speaking ability, presentation skills, confidence, and teamwork. It also demonstrated that English can be learned effectively through meaningful and enjoyable real-life activities. Overall, the programme was a useful and engaging initiative of the Langlit – Students' Association 2026–27.
