B) Report

i.Title: Thalassemia Public Awareness Rally.

ii. Introduction:

The NCC Girls & Boys Unit of Shiv Chhatrapati Shikshan Sanstha's Rajarshi Shahu Mahavidyalaya, Latur, Empowered Autonomous Institution, organized a Thalassemia Public Awareness Rally on 17th September 2026 in collaboration with Bhalchandra Blood Bank, Latur.

The activity was organized with the objective of creating awareness among cadets and the general public about Thalassemia, its prevention, early diagnosis, and the importance of blood donation. The rally provided NCC cadets with an opportunity to contribute to a meaningful social and health-awareness initiative.

iii. Objective of the Program:

1. To create awareness about Thalassemia among the general public.
2. To spread information about the causes, prevention, and management of Thalassemia.
3. To emphasize the importance of regular health screening and early diagnosis.
4. To promote awareness about voluntary blood donation.
5. To encourage NCC cadets to participate in socially relevant community activities.
6. To develop a sense of social responsibility, discipline, and community service among the cadets.

iv. Details of participants:

73 NCC cadets (32 Boys and 41 Girls) and 01 Associate NCC Officer were participated in the rally.

v. Brief summary of the program:

The Thalassemia Public Awareness Rally was conducted on 17th September 2026 by the NCC Girls & Boys Unit of Rajarshi Shahu Mahavidyalaya, Latur, in association with Bhalchandra Blood Bank, Latur.

A total of 73 NCC cadets, including both Girls and Boys Cadets, actively participated in the rally. Before the commencement of the rally, Dr. Mahadev Gavhane, Principal, Rajarshi Shahu Mahavidyalaya, Latur, addressed and guided the cadets regarding the importance of creating awareness about Thalassemia and the role of young volunteers in community health initiatives.

The rally commenced from Town Hall, Latur and proceeded through Gandhi Chowk → Main Bus Stand → Ganj Golai → Gul Market → Rajarshi Shahu Mahavidyalaya. The participating cadets carried awareness messages and actively engaged in spreading information about Thalassemia among the public.

The rally concluded at Rajarshi Shahu Mahavidyalaya, Latur, where the activity was formally brought to an end. The participation of NCC cadets reflected their commitment to social awareness, community service, and public welfare.

vi. Conclusion:

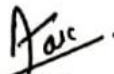

The Thalassemia Public Awareness Rally was a meaningful social-awareness initiative that successfully engaged NCC cadets in spreading awareness about an important health issue. The active participation of 73 NCC cadets (Girls and Boys) helped communicate the message of Thalassemia prevention, early diagnosis, and blood donation to the public.

The activity also strengthened the values of social responsibility, discipline, teamwork, leadership, and community service among the NCC cadets. The collaboration with Bhalchandra Blood Bank, Latur further contributed to making the awareness campaign informative and socially relevant.
